As to claims 17, 19, 21 and 39, the prior art of record does not teach determining whether the multimedia buffer system is at a maximum depth; and altering the depth of the multimedia buffer system if the frame arrived late and the multimedia buffer system is not at the maximum depth.

As to claims 23-26, the prior art of record does not teach determining whether the multimedia buffer system is at a minimum depth; and altering the depth of the multimedia buffer system if the frame arrived early and the multimedia buffer system is not at the minimum depth.

As to claims 28, 30-38, the prior art of record does not teach determine an amount of time the frame arrived late based on an amount of time that the arrival-time exceeds the playback-time if the frame did not arrive on schedule.

As to claim 39, the prior art of record does not teach means for determining whether the frame arrived late, the frame arriving late if the arrival-time is greater than the playback-time; means for maintaining a late count representing a number of frames arriving late; means for determining whether the late-counter exceeds a predetermined value.

As to claim 40, the prior art of record does not teach means for determining whether the frame arrived early, the frame arriving early if the arrival-time is less than the playback-time, means for maintaining an early count representing the number of frames arriving early; means for determining whether the early count exceeds a predetermined value.
